

SUPREME COURT TO DECIDE

Whether the District Attorney of Esmeralda Must Resign

HAWTHORNE, April 6.—The fight against District Attorney J. E. Davidson of Esmeralda county is becoming stronger and more bitter every day and the resignation of that gentleman will probably be forthcoming unless the Supreme Court of the State steps in and decides in his favor although it is the opinion of many that the higher court will refuse to interfere one way or the other in the matter.

Yesterday a most remarkable turn took place in the fight that is being waged against him. Every one of his bondsmen withdrew and following this the county commissioners raised the sum of his official bond from $5,000 to $55,000. Davidson made a statement today that he would ask the supreme court to review the action of the board and if he fails he will file the bond. The action of the county commissioners goes into effect on May 1st.

Outside Capital for Nevada

Surveyors are in the field exploring T. B. Riekey's land in Antelope valley, preparatory to its being opened for settlement. Already a force of men is at the lower end of the valley, constructing a gigantic reservoir to reclaim a tract of similar size farther down the valley and lying in the State of Nevada.

From being a mere pond it has in the past several years grown to a lake having an area of over three square miles. This has been done by Mr. Riekey turning all the waste water of the valley into the lake.

He is now having a tunnel 500 feet long driven at the east side of the lake and this, with a long cutting, will lead the water out over a broad expanse covered with sagebrush that lies too high to be irrigated from the Walker river. The soil is adapted for sugar beet culture.

Another Schwab Deal

Charles Schwab, the steel magnate has secured the option on the holdings of the Bullfrog Gold Bar company principally owned by J. P. Lottus and James Davis. The control of the stock is now in escrow in the Cook bank at Goldfield.

The price at which the stock will be purchased is $1.50 per share. The company is capitalized for 1,000,000 shares at the par value of $1 each. Since it has become known that Mr. Schwab is about to increase the control of the stock, Bullfrog Gold Bar shares have jumped to $2.25, at which it is quoted on the local and San Francisco mining stock exchanges.—Goldfield Sun.

BIG SMELTER FOR ELY

Guggenheimer Company Will Erect a $2,500,000 Plant

BOSTON, April 6.—A circular was issued today by Daniel Guggenheimer of the Guggenheimer Exploration company, to stockholders, stating that 203,310 shares of its holdings of Nevada Consolidated will be sold at $14 per share, giving stockholders of the exploration company the first privilege of subscribing to this stock in proportion to the holdings of exploration stock.

The privilege must be exercised on or before April 17 at three o'clock and all stock sold to the public.

The reason for disposing of this block is that Guggenheimer thinks his company should not tie up too large a proportion of its quick assets in one venture.

The company on advice of its engineers has decided to build a 4,000-ton smelter and plans which will handle 1,500,000 tons of ore annually. This will cost about $2,500,000 and the proposition has already been financed.

RELOCATION OF MINING CLAIMS

Important Decision on That Question By Colorado Judge

An important decision relating to relocation of mining claims in the Boulder, Colorado district court is the first decision on this important point.

The court held the locators of mining claims who have failed to do the annual assessment were prescribed by law in order to hold title to the same, have the right to relocate, the same as any other party who may jump the claims after the first location becomes void by reason of failure to do the necessary work.

The court held that the relocation would hold good at law, providing it was made before the location by the other parties after the first location had become void.

This it seems is no more than just it does not deprive any one from locating—the locator must of course, exercise due diligence and locate prior to relocation on the part of the first claimant.

When districts are settling up, and the ground assumes value of an increasing character, no man is likely to allow his work to fall—if so he takes the chance of losing his property, for while he may have the right to relocate, his negligence in the first instance will likely be repeated in the second, and he will forfeit his rights in one case just as he does in the other.

Prompt Payment

Yesterday C. L. Deady, clerk of Ormsby Camp, No. 413, Woodmen of the World received a check for $1000 in favor of Mary A. Wall the amount of insurance that her late husband, J. A. Wall, carried in that order.

This is exceptionally prompt payment, as the check was received fifteen days after the death proof papers were mailed from this city.

This popular western order is to be commended upon the promptness with which it meets all death claims.

It is on a solid financial basis and is fast accumulating a reserve fund of four million of dollars to meet all emergencies when the order grows old and death rates are high without an extra burden on the members.

THE RAILROAD QUESTION

Senator Newlands Advocates Government Ownership

WASHINGTON, April 6.—Railroad domination of local and national politics was clearly emphasized by Senator Newlands of Nevada today in his speech on the rate bill, and senators on both sides of the chamber were called on to corroborate the statement. Senator Newlands made no distinctions between the Democrats and the Republicans when he said that every Senator and every man who ever had anything to do with politics knew that the great railroad corporations owned State, local and even national officials, no matter which party was in control of the administrative or legislative machinery.

Senator Newlands was urging the amendment of the rate bill by adding his provisions for a national incorporation of all interstate railroads and a uniform rule of taxation upon gross revenues. His bill also provides for a limitation of capitalization and of income the railways may exact.

With Senators Aldrich, Kean, Dryden, Allison, Knox and other leading Republican and Democratic leaders listening, the Senator from Nevada took up the political activity of railroads. He said in part:

"The railroads are in politics. They go into politics as they go into everything else—in a systematic business like way. There is no sentiment about it. They go into politics to protect their property and they use the entire political machinery of the State. It is easier to do that than to try to influence the people at the polls. What chance has a great corporation at the polls in a contest with the people? They can only be influential in politics by indirection. They deem it, therefore, essential to seize the political machinery of both parties. On Government ownership Mr. Newlands said:

The argument in favor of a national ownership is a simple and taking one. Outside of the United States three-fifths of the world's trackage is in national ownership, and not a single nation that has entered upon national ownership is inclined to withdraw from it. Japan, only recently coming out of the stress and strain of a great war, has passed an act for the purchase of all private railroads in Japan at a cost of $250,000,000.

"Government ownership presents no difficulties, either constitutional or practical, and the country will certainly drift to it unless the existing abuses of uncontrolled monopoly, of over-capitalization, of accomplished union between the producing and transportation interests of the country, of political control and of unjust preferences and discriminations are done away with. Even assuming that the Government management may not be economical, the time may come when the people will regard equality of service as of more importance than economy of service. But the plan of national incorporation would give the country the benefits of Government ownership and with none of its dangers."

AFTER THE WATER

Arguments in Suit Being Heard in U. S. Land Office

An important land case is being considered before the Receiver and Register, Hall and Gallup, in the United States land office.

The case has been progressing slowly for three days and still seems far from a conclusion. There are seven witnesses and each is being thoroughly examined. United States Attorney Platt and former Lieutenant Governor Ponce are attorneys for the two contestants.

In this action Thomas Cartel's is applying for a homestead on a piece of property situated near Lida, which same ground is covered by a mineral location made by Joseph Martin, both contestants being residents of Lida.

While it is not a matter of record, it is evident from the testimony and the amount of money that is being expended in this matter, that the water on the property is what the two ties are each striving for. Each is supposed to represent a company which desires to pipe the water to Goldfield. There is said to be an excellent flow of pure water on the property.
